Round about the cauldron go, In the poisoned entrails throw; Drugs that in the coldest veins Shoot increast flery pains: Herbe, that, brought from hell's black door, the lits hasiness stow and sure.

All in charas-Double, double, toil and trouble, Fire burn and caulifron bubble. Several Demons successively, 1st; 2t, 3t, 4c. This shall scorch and scar the brain,

This shall mad the heart with pain, This shall ideat the flesh with fire. This eternal thirst inspire,

This shall sayage thirst inflame, This shall steel the soul to shame, This make all mankind contend. 'Tie their generous social friend. Aurus-Bouble, double, toil and trouble, &c. 2d Demon.

This shall brutalize the mind,

And to the curporeal frame shall bind Fell disease of every kind, Dropaies, agues, fierce catarries, Pestilential inward scare, Ferres, gonts, convulsive starts, Racking spasms in vital parts. All men shall call the liquor good,

Charas-Double, double, toil and trouble, &c. All the Demons in Full Charus. Mortals! yours the damning sin, Drink the maddening mixture in. At shall bear with fierer control, All the pulses of the soul; Sweet the poison, love it well,

The more with death it thicks the blood.

As the common path to hell; Let the charm of powerful trouble, Like a hell broth, boil and bubble. Full charus-Double, double, toil and trouble, &c.

Old Gent: "You don't mean to tell me, waiter, that you can't give me a toothpick?" Waiter: "Well, sir, we used to keep 'em, but the gents almost invariably took 'em away when they'd done with 'em."

A stingy husband accounted for all the blame of the lawlessness of his children in company, by saying his wife always gave them their own way. "Poor things! It's all I have to give them," was the prompt reply.

The latest contribution to the lexicography of the future is the following, by the New York World: Buttle, v. a.; to connive at blackmailing merchants and plundering the Treasury. Buttler, s., one who buttles.

The Des Moines Register says the good things at Governor Carpenter's reception "displayed the culinary skill of Mrs. Carpenter." Which is very like the man who always stopped at the Aster House when he went to New York, "because Mrs. Astor was such a good cook."

.. I see," said a young lady, " that some printers advertises blank declarations for sale; I wish I could get one." "Why?" asked the mother. " Because, ma, Mr. G --- is too modest to ask me to marry him; and, perhaps, if I should fill up a blank declaration, he would sign it."

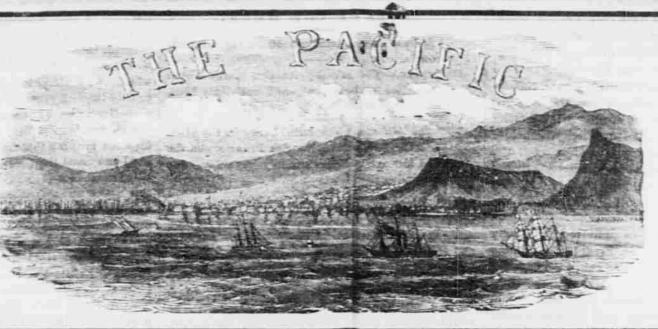

" HE WANTED, ETC., AND THERE HE IS."-Saturday a policeman in the western part of Detroit heard that a citizen of Twelfth street had been badly injured, and he called at the house to obtain particulars. He found the man lying upon the lounge, his head bound up and his face badly scratched, and he asked: "What's the matter; did he get run over or fall down stairs?" "No, not exactly," replied his wife, "but he wanted to run the house his way, and I wanted DEALERS IN LUMBER AND BUILDING to run it my way, and there he is."

BUTLER'S JOKES .- C. C. F. writes to the Baltimore American from New Orleans: "General Butler has left engraven, in enduring granite, GROCERS AND PROVISION DEALERS, several pungent jokes he perpetrated while in command of this city. One of these is on the base of the equestrian bronze statue of General Jackson. One morning, when the curses of the people were loudest and deepest, a stone-cutter, guarded by a file of soldiers, was observed in Jackson Square commencing work with his chisel. No one knew in what way he was about to dese-crate the monument of the hero of New Orleans, and each letter was watched as it appeared on the base until the declaration which made him · famous- The Union must and shall be preserved '-was spelled out by the people. A short time afterward the workman, similarly guarded, approached the bronze monument of Henry Clay, on Canal street, and soon was cut deep and distinct in the granite block, immediately under the foot of the statue, the following extract from one of the greatest speeches of the Kentucky statesman : 'If I could be instrumental in eradicating this deep stain-slavery-from the character of our country, I would not exchange the proud satisfaction which I should enjoy for all the triumph ever achieved by the most successful conqueror. Little did those who erected these monuments ever expect to see such inscriptions upon them; but, although they gnashed their teeth at the time, they now regard the inscriptions as not altogether out of place, in view of the changes that have been wrought by fraternal war. The
